Weekly

LET'S GIVE THANKS FOR ANSWERED PRAYER

We pray Sundays, maintain a Prayer List, and, of course, engage in much personal prayer. Furthermore, I can see answered prayer within our fellowship on a weekly basis. So here is my question: "How often do we pause and thank God for answered prayer and, in doing so, give Him the glory?"

To take it a step further, if we had a visible reminder of the Lord's faithfulness in answering prayer, I suspect it would prompt both more prayer and more thanksgiving. That's the idea associated with our prayer corner at the east end of our Fellowship Hall.

You will find a couple of chairs in the corner, so that you can sit and give thanks to the Lord for His answered prayer. Then transfer a stone from the container on the stand into the large pot. The idea is to build a memorial to God's ongoing faithfulness to the prayers of our fellowship. As we do, we will be reinforcing the blessing of turning to Him in every circumstance. Consider stopping and giving thanks for your answered prayers, and look for coming improvements.

CHRISTMAS CHILD SEEKING VOLUNTEERS

Many people are not aware that Franklin Graham's Operation Christmas Child shoebox ministry is active year-round in the United States preparing for the annual Christmas drive. For example, VCC's Christmas Child coordinator Sharon Stark (top) has, for several years, been knitting caps for the boxes.

If you are mission minded and looking for something productive to do, the Christmas Shoebox ministry at VCC could use volunteers for the following types of contributions to our boxes:

- Woodworkers. Construct small toys or puzzles.
- Seamstresses. Small dresses and t-shirts make great additions to a shoebox.
- Knitters/crocheters: Provide hats, mittens, etc.
- Shoppers. Find items to make small kits: Hygiene kits (washcloth, soap, etc.) and school kits (zippered bag with pencils, eraser, etc.) are popular.

Finished items are gathered and stored until the November drive when they are made available on a table in the foyer for VCC members wishing to select a few starter items for their 2021 Christmas shoebox(s). All work and materials would be your contribution toward spreading the gospel to children and their families around the world.
