SOME CHANGES FOR OUR MUSIC MINISTRY

Our choir is singing for the worship service this Sunday, September 12, then they are taking a little break. There will be no practice on Wednesday, September 15 and 22. When the choir returns to practice on Wednesdays, beginning September 29, they will have a new pianist and a new rehearsal time.

Joey Tranvik is taking over as choir accompanist while LuAnn Detloff takes a well-deserved break. To accommodate Joey's work schedule, the choir will rehearse from 2:00 to 3:30 pm each Wednesday.

The choir will be working on anthems for our service—singing again on October 10—and for the Christmas cantata. Anyone interested in joining the choir and/or singing for the Christmas cantata is invited to come to any choir rehearsal.

PIANO CONCERT AT VCC, SEPTEMBER 24

We are blessed to have Dr. Fanya Lin, a pianist and faculty member at the University of Arizona, perform a piano concert at VCC, Friday, September 24th at 5:00 pm. This event is open to the public as a community service, so you are encouraged to use the invitations available on Sunday and at the office to invite neighbors and friends. We will have light refreshments in the Fellowship Hall following the performance.

There is no charge for the concert, but we will take up a free-will offering following the performance to show our appreciation and to support Dr. Lin in an upcoming piano competition. After a long absence, I trust you will find this concert to be a blessing.

FROM PASTOR KEVIN AND KAREN

Greetings from somewhere above 9000 feet in Colorado where the nights are in the 30s and 40s. I am getting in lots of good writing and, of course, good biking with Karen. I am looking forward to preaching on September 19. My message is already outlined, but I am trying not to work too much on it until I get back or it will be too long for sure. Karen and I will see you soon!
