SUNDAY BEGINS A NEW SERMON SERIES

This Sunday, we begin a study in the Book of Romans, and I suspect we will be there for quite some time. Before I can really get into studying and organizing material, I always need a title—I am very linear that way. Here is my first effort: Romans—The sine quo non of Church doctrine! Although I eventually discarded this title (I didn't think it would ever catch on), I still like it. And, I wanted to share with you why. The Latin phrase sine quo non refers to that which is essential or absolutely necessary. It literally means, without which not, and it was the literal meaning that caught my attention. Without the Book of Romans, many of the other New Testament epistles would seem to be talking about something for which we missed the backstory. For Ephesians, Colossians, Galatians, and Philippians all have brief statements of topics extensively developed in Romans. Without Romans, we would have trouble with understanding and making application of much of

New Testament guidance to the Church. I trust we, as a church fellowship, will be greatly blessed by our time in this foundational portion of God's Word.

In His Grace,
Kevin

VOTE ON 11 NEW MEMBERS THIS SUNDAY

This Sunday, September 26, at the end of the worship service, Pastor Kevin will present to the congregation for approval 11 individuals who wish to become VCC members. The vote during the worship service was the way our congregation gave membership approval in the past. More recently, we have been voting at our quarterly business meetings. However, the meeting, held this past Wednesday, September 22, failed to achieve a quorum that would enable a congregational vote. So, the vote will be held this Sunday instead.

You can greet the new members in the church foyer following the service.

YOU NEED TO BE IN THE VCC DIRECTORY!

Our pictorial directory is one of the ways that members of our congregation get to know one another. Especially now that our congregation is growing and new people are attending each Sunday, having an updated directory is important. Jan Galyen maintains the directory records in the church office. She is conducting a campaign this fall to get existing records corrected and add listings for all who attend VCC. The updated 2022 directory will be released at the Quarterly Business Meeting scheduled for December 8.

Jan has these directory notes:

- Everyone is eligible. You do not need to be a formal member to be in the directory. It is for all of our congregation.
- New listings are easy. Stop in at the church office and complete a simple information form and get your picture taken.
- Corrections are important. If you are already in the directory, be sure that the office has your up-to-date information.
